

Title: Scouts Journal Book 1

Author: Valcor

---

Day 1

We have followed the road northwest from Trinsic. It didn't take long to pickup the beast trail for they too seemed to be following the road. Night is approaching and we will stop at the scout camp to rest and take food.

Death is what we have found at the camp. Everyone dead. Two of the four scouts with me have ran off in the night, the fools. They will be lucky to go a mile before this evil catches them. I have ordered the remainder of my group to push on. None of us are anxious to sleep in this grrizzly scene. I will leave this book for those that follow so you may know our path. We are continuing to follow the main road as that's the path of the beast. My hope is help comes to us soon. We have yet to face our foe but I am filled with dread.

Valcor